Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on April 27, 1988.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, April 27, 1988.

K. R. CHEEK COLLECTION

This Collection was primarily formed as an academic project relative to the fractional coinage of Thrace and Macedonia. Many of the specimens offered below are extremely rare or unique. Mr. Cheek is currently working on an extensive manuscript "Thraco-Macedonian Minute and Fractional coinage, 560-336 B.C." This work elaborates on the complex Thraco-Macedonian weight standards, reverse incuse development, and other elements associated with Thraco-Macedonian coinage. He utilizes specimens from his collection in this analysis of the tribal, civic, and regal coinage of the region. He has catalogued the first 54 lots of the sale which comprise a major portion of his collection and e t	opics of his book.

	ELECTRUM SPECIMENS (Uncertain Thraco-Macedonian Issues) UNCERTAIN THRACO-MACEDONIAN 570-535, 1/24 stater .66 gr., Obv.	9.	PEGASUS-TYPE ISSUE 510-490, Triobol 1.43 gr., Obv. Pegasus to R., Rev. Crude "Swastika" pattern incuse, VF/VF Extremely Rare, Ex: J.P. Rosen Coll-M.M. Auction 72, No. 86	450
2.	Raised "Swastika" pattern, Rev. "Swastika" pattern incuse, EF/EF Scarce, Ex: J.P. Rosen Coll. M.M. Auction 72, No. 86		The crude style "Pegasus-Type" issues may be tribal imitations of the refined-style "Pegasus-Type" issues which modern numismatists have attributed to Thermai. The "Pegasus-Type" issues are currently being found northeast of modern Salonika near Langadas and Diavata. This area was known in antiquity as Krestonia.
	The electrum issues displaying the "Swastika" pattern have been found in the Thraco-Macedonian region. D. Raymond and J.N. Svoronos have attributed these electrum issues to this region, although many modern numismatists have attributed them as "Uncertain of Ionia, Asia Minor." The "Swastika" pattern is analogous to the reverse incuse punch of many early archaic tribal issues, i.e., Thasos, and I think these electrum issues short-		PEGASUS-TYPE ISSUE 500-485, Thirty-Sixth Stater/Hemiobol .36 gr., Obv. 4.	PI.VII No. 13		The "Spearhead-Type" issues are separated into crude-style and refined- style issues which may indicate a separate weight standard and/or denomination.
	The seated and running "Silenus-type" issues attributed to Lete are among the earliest silver issues minted in the Thraco-Macedonian region.	13.	SPEARHEAD-TYPE ISSUE 500-476, Hemiobol/Forty-Eighth Stater .29 gr., Obv. Spearhead; dot border, Rev. Quadripartite incuse square, VF/VF Ex-

	The majority of the early Archaic coinage attributed to the Thraco-Macedonian region was directly related to the reverence and worship of the nature of reproduction. The use of the crab as a symbol is related, as it is a prolific food source with a short reproduction cycle.	15.	(Civic Issues) ACANTHUS 500-480, Tritartemorion .39 gr., Obv. 	This unique specimen is analogous to the star symbol and triangular incuse punch which is seen on the archaic tetradrachms of Potidaia c. 500-480. The weight standard of this specimen may be 1/216th of a tetradrachm c. 17.40 gr. (EA weight standard).		This specimen displays both of the royal symbols associated with the kingdom of Macedonia. Alexander I minted a portion of his currency on the heavy Greek weight standard, in the closing years of his reign, and the use of the royal symbols demonstrated his independence from Athens.	- e

FIXED PRICE 454. FREDERICK I BARBAROSA (c. 1123-1190)

Frederick I Barbarosa (Redbeard) was one of the most famous and important medieval rulers. Hereditary Duke of Swabia, Frederick was elected Holy Roman Emperor in a time of extreme conflict and division in both Germany and Italy. Vigorous action led to the revival of imperial power in Germany, and his reign was everafter remembered as a golden age. Even now the legend persists that Frederick Barbarosa sits in a cavern in the Thuringian mountains awaiting until the need of the country shall call him forth.

The situation in Italy, however, was less happy. There, despite five military expeditions over the course of nearly thirty years, Frederick was unable to achieve lasting victories in his conflicts with the Pope and the Italian cities. These wars came to a conclusion when Philip of Heinsberg, Archbishop of Cologne, led a revolt in Germany at the instigation of the Pope. A settlement was reached: Philip of Heinsberg ended his revolt, and Frederick joined the Third Crusade. Crossing a Roman bridge near the ancient city of Seleucia in Cilicia, Barbarosa fell from his horse and drown. His army fell apart disasterously after his death and few of his men ever reached home.

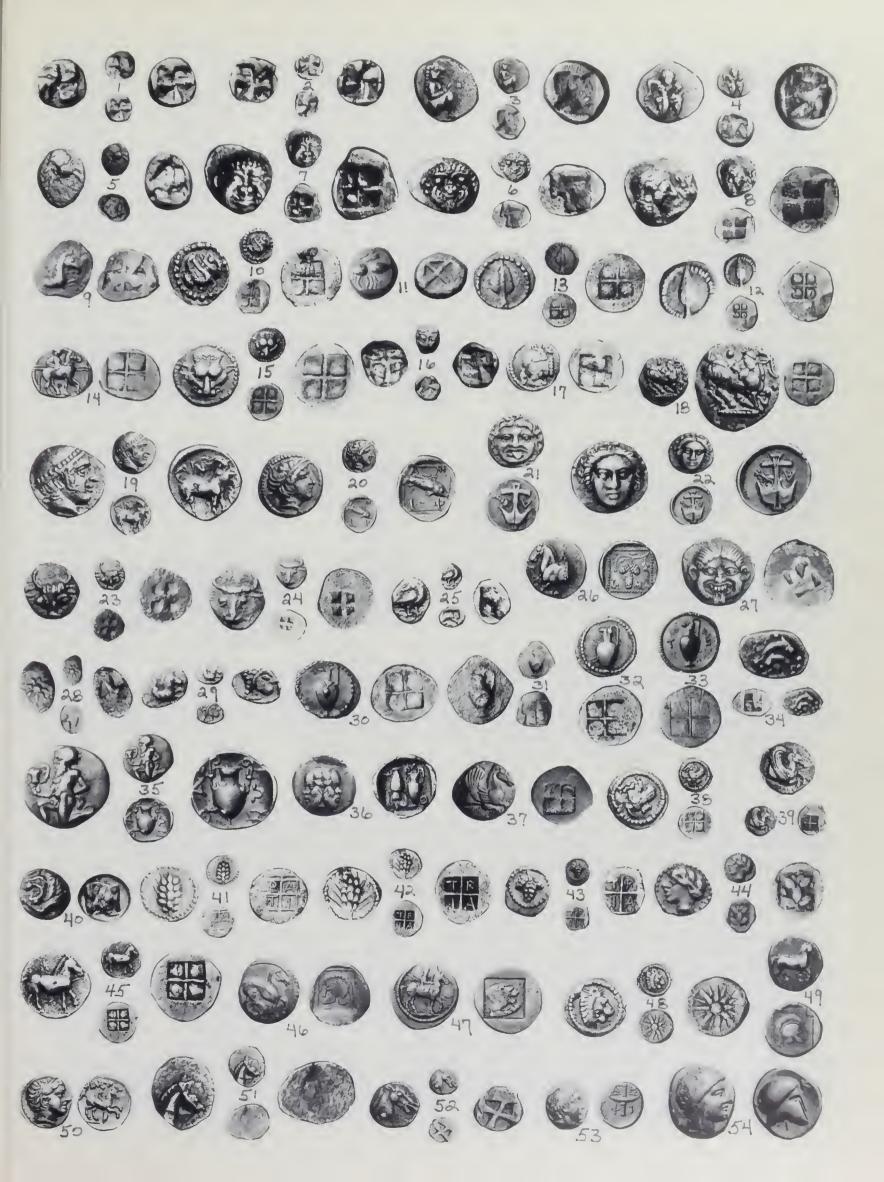

We offer silver pennies of Frederick I Barbarosa, Philip of Heinsberg, and Bertram, Bishop of Metz, from a hoard discovered in Cilicia, only a short distance from the place of Frederick's death. Composed chiefly of German silver issues, the hoard appears to have been the personal treasury of one of Frederick's noble supporters or a portion of the imperial treasury itself. These specimens show little wear, but—as typical for these thin coins—show areas of weak striking.

FAIENCE USHEBTIS

The fine detailing apparent in this figure, formed to carry out tasks in the Egyptian afterlife, indicates not only the high level of accuracy characteristic of faience statuary, but serves also to clarify our understanding of the most fundamental and ancient concepts at the heart of Egyptian culture. The ushebti figure evolved to suit the needs of individual tomb owners during the later Middle Kingdom, reaching their initial height of popularity in the New Kingdom (1550-1070 B.C.). The symbolism portrayed on these figures is far older, dating from the earliest cultures living along the banks of the Nile. The shape and stance of the ushebti is representative of Osiris, god of the underworld, a mummified corpse wearing a primitive cloth headdress and braided chin beard first recorded in Predynastic art prior to 3100 B.C. The instruments in each hand, a plow, a hoe, and a net bag suspended on a rope, connect Osiris with the agricultural aid he provided the early inhabitants of the Nile. These tools also enabled the ushebtis to perform their tasks tending the fields in the afterlife, visualized as a mirror image of the present. The written hieroglyphs, which read from right to left, are instructions from Osiris, commanding the figure to magically come to life and work at the bidding of the tomb owner.

> Egyptian Faience Ushebti of Hu-nefer. Inscribed Saite Period (26th Dynasty), 644-525 B.C.....4500

> > Inscription

The inscription, which reads from right to left in horizontal columns, was composed in the format common to ushebtis, consisting of an identifying line naming the tomb-owner, and his titles and parentage:

"May the Osirian, Priest, Scribe, Hu-Nefer, son of Shutef, and born of Mer-Wadjet, be illuminated..."

followed by Chapter VI of the Book of the Dead, the Egyptian religious text:

"Hail Ushebti figure! If the Osiris, Hu-nefer, is ordered to do any of the work which is to be done in the afterlife, let everything which stands in the way to be removed from him—whether it is to plough the fields, or to fill the channels with water, or to carry sand from east to west."

The ushebti figure replies: "I will do it, I am here when you call."
